Task:

Write a internal monologue to a Person who comes to NewYork in 19th century and see to the first time the statue of liberty.

~19th century~

Two months I was on the this boat and Yeah now I achieve my goal..... .

I'm here, I'm in New York, that was my goal.

If my mother knews that, she would be proud of me, I have to write a postcard to her.

But, but what is that? That something big?

Thats bigger than the church at home, no no that is now my home, so it is bigger than the curch in the United Kinkdom!

I want to see it....., but the postcard for my mother.

That can wait, now I look at this strange statue.

Mmmm, it is a woman, who has a crown at her head and a torch in her hand.

What does that mean?

So the torch could symbolizes freedom and hope.

But the crown?, I don`t now.

Wait, I had see a shop, there I can buy poscards for my mother and I can write about the big statue in this land.
